

Course Name: Critical Incident Stress Management for Supervisors

This class is dealing with critical incidents designed to help supervisors understand the possible effects a critical incident can have on the psychological well-being of individuals. Trainees will explore various types of critical incidents and learn to recognize the signs and symptoms that may follow.